

The ABORM has been formed by leading professionals in Oriental Reproductive Medicine who have come together voluntarily with a resolve to meet the patient and physician demand for a demonstration of knowledge of care in this field. We have recognized the need for a certification to maintain that practitioners who are treating patients with Oriental Medicine in the field of Reproductive Health, are doing so with an advanced knowledge and experience, and to allow practitioners to demonstrate their knowledge through the process of voluntary examination.

The ABORM is a non-profit 501(C)6 corporation devoted to teaching, research, and the practice of Oriental Medicine as it relates to the treatment of reproductive disorders.

- ABORM Members have demonstrated competency in the treatment of Infertility by passing a rigorous examination that measures knowledge of both Western and TCM reproductive medicine – both male and female.

- ABORM Members stay abreast of the most current research related to Acupuncture and Herbal Medicine as it relates to the treatment of Infertility.
- Many ABORM Members are actively engaged in clinical research as it relates to the treatment of Infertility with Acupuncture and Herbal Medicine, and several members have published research.
- Many ABORM members are actively involved in the teaching and training of other TCM practitioners who wish to specialize in the treatment of Infertility.
- ABORM Members must maintain a minimum amount of continuing education annually related to the practice of Oriental Reproductive Medicine.
- The ABORM Advisory Board is paneled by senior practitioners in the field of Oriental Reproductive Medicine, and by Reproductive Endocrinologists.

The ABORM is committed to advancing Integrative Medicine for the treatment of Infertility, and to the concept of informed patient choice in the selection of an Acupuncturist to help them conceive. Safety, efficacy, and integrity are paramount concerns for ABORM certified practitioners when working with the fertility patient.

When working with patients who are in an ART process, the ABORM certified practitioner approaches the treatment of the patient with communication, teamwork, and supportive care in mind.

Take-home babies are our goal.
